Frequently Asked Questions

What is DSB?

DSB is an acronym for Directed Study Block. Directed Study Block is specific time (8:30 am-9:00 am) set aside in our daily schedule for students that are at-risk of being unsuccessful in their learning. If a student is referred to DSB by a classroom teacher, they MUST attend. Not attending DSB when required will be considered truancy and there will be follow-up communication with home and an administrator. DSB runs Monday to Friday, with the priority being English on Mondays and Tuesdays, and Math on Thursday and Fridays.

What happens if my student is mandated for more than one subject?

Our School Improvement Plan (SIP) has a focus on improving and enriching student literacy and numeracy skills and a sense of belonging. For this reason, on Mondays and Tuesdays, English takes priority over the other subjects. On Thursdays and Fridays, Math takes priority. Students can be referred to DSB on any day of the week in any subject, however if they receive multiple referrals in different subjects, English and Math have priority on those assigned days. This change has been made to ensure that students can attend DSB in multiple different subject areas during the same week.

If my student is not mandated to attend DSB, do they arrive at 8:30 am or 9:00 am?

Students not mandated to attend DSB may arrive anytime from 8:00 am onward. Students are expected to be in their period 1 class at 9:00 am.

If my student is not mandated to attend DSB, are they allowed to be in the school prior to 9:00 am?

Yes, there are always teachers on supervision starting at 8:00 am.

Does Bussing remain the same Monday through Friday?

Yes, the bussing schedule does not change.

What are the Royal Kingdoms?

The RHS Royal Kingdoms have been created to increase a sense of belonging and community, school spirit, extracurricular and curricular engagement, including sports and performing arts, special interests, and community volunteerism all while aligning with the expectations of the new High School Renewal. The Royal Kingdoms will increase a sense of community by encouraging students to participate in as many activities, games, events, trips, and other curricular and extra-curricular activities as possible. The goal as the tradition progresses is to foster healthy competition and pride in being a Royal while working in smaller, close-knit communities within the wider school, and providing vertical scaffolding for mentoring across all grades.

What does it look like?

Every student is assigned a Kingdom. In each Kingdom there are Houses and House teachers. The students will remain with the same Kingdom, House, and House teacher for the duration of their schooling, and participate in activities within their Houses, as well as within Inter-House competitions to foster whole school spirit and collaboration. Houses are made up of a mixture of grades where older students serve as mentors and role models to younger students, and act in a leadership capacity under the guidance of their House teachers.

Students are assigned to their House based on the alphabet structure already in place:

How often will there be House Meetings?

House meetings are 30 minutes, twice a month, are mandatory, and will follow the House Meeting Bell Schedule. One house meeting a month is school wide curricular based (ex. credit hour requirements, lesson on plagiarism, course selections, etc.), and one house meeting a month is centered around spirit and sense of belonging. The Spirit house meetings are planned and designed by our Student Government and our Develop and Lead class.

What does the House Meeting Bell Schedule look like?

Twice a month, on Wednesdays, classes are reduced to 55 minutes with house meetings lasting 30 minutes.
